

ABSTRACT

A set of automotive-related product packaging having a set of common features. Each of the product packages provide for point of sales display, easy transportation, and storage of the product when not in use.